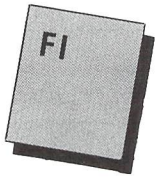
Dear Editor:
I recently uploaded my first program. Can I find how many people have downloaded it?

Chaz10
Georgetown, KY

You sure can, Chaz! To find out the number of Q-Link members who have downloaded a program you've contributed, find your program in the software library you uploaded to. Press the F1 key to bring up the file description, and Voila! — the sixth line down is called Downloads, and the number that follows it is the number of people who have made your program part of their home software library! Note: There is a delay of seven to ten days in the total download count.



Dear Editor:
Scrap the Top Software Picks. Give us the old Top 20 Picks. No offense, but I'd rather trust the other Q-Linkers' opinions instead of the Update Editor's, if I have to choose.

Enterpoop
Union City, PA

Members' opinions (based on the number of monthly downloads) are still part of the formula for determining the Top Software Picks. The problem with the old Top 20 was that the same programs often stayed on the chart month after month, leaving little opportunity to get the word out on newer software.

The task of choosing the Top Software Picks falls to CIN producer Paul Gernhardt. Each month, he includes some of the newest programs in the Software Libraries, or reviews seasonal software and classic Q-Link favorites. The SysOp Picks are contributed by the Hardware and Computing Support Group SysOps. That way, you'll know the top choices of people who really know a good program when they see one. Trust them, they won't steer you wrong!

Note from the Editor: Starting with this issue, you'll find menu paths in parentheses at the end of each Update story. For example, (News and Information/News and Weather/Election '88) at the conclusion of our election feature tells you where to find the Q-Link area discussed in the story–in the News and Information department, under News and Weather, in the Election'88 section. We hope this addition to the Update will assist you in finding the online services described in our articles.

To send a Letter to the Editor, choose the Post A Letter to the Editor option in the Update area of the Customer Service Center's Members' Online Guide.

Inside Q-Link Customer Relations:

Larger Staff and More Sophisticated Support Meet Needs of a Growing Membership

As Q-Link's services and membership continue to grow, its Customer Relations Department faces a unique challenge — to get answers to more members faster than ever!

On a typical night in Q-Link's Customer Relations Department, representatives will answer at least 60 phone calls each about registration, billing, service information, Telenet and Tymnet numbers, and more.

And for each call, the representatives are committed to giving 100 percent — there can be no busy signals, no mistakes. Each call must be answered within 30 seconds, seven days a week.

How Do They Do It?

In recent months, Customer Relations has doubled its staff. The new employees are experienced customer relations professionals, active Q-Link members, and Commodore enthusiasts.

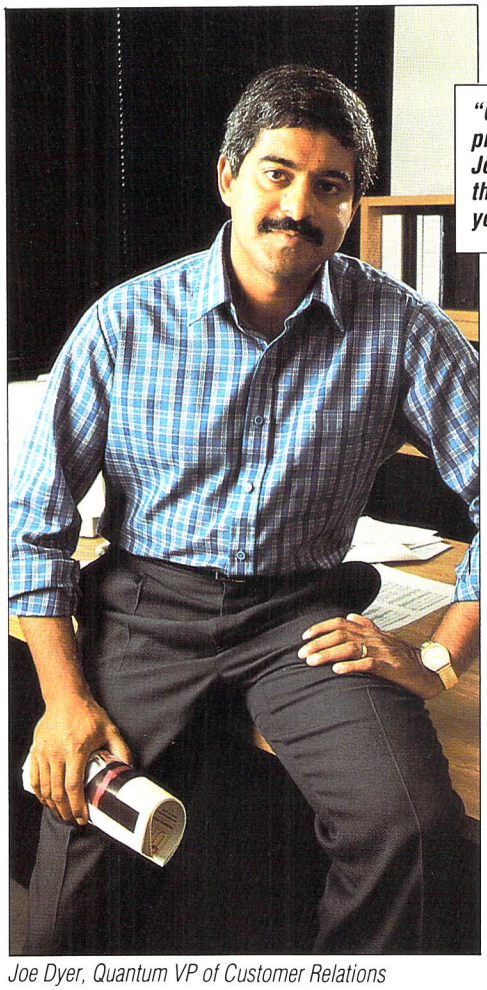
Each new representative completes a grueling five-week training process, which includes two weeks of classroom instruction and three weeks of on-the-job training. At the end of the five weeks, they are given a "final exam." Every representative must pass the exam to earn the right to wear a headset.

QGuides are on duty in People Connection's Lobby and special Help room during peak hours to answer your questions about Q-Link services and events. Get fast, accurate answers!

"The training is fantastic," says Kelly Ippolito, one of Q-Link's new Customer Relations representatives. "The test turned out to be fairly easy, because the training was so thorough.

"I've been on the phone for a little more than a week, and I've already had a lot of people call me back to thank me!"

In addition, Customer Relations now boasts a new phone system, specifically designed to handle the needs of its fine-tuned support staff. Behind this quest for excellence is Quantum's Vice President of Customer Relations, Joe Dyer.



Joe Dyer, Quantum VP of Customer Relations

"Giving accurate information in response to a customer problem 99 percent of the time is not good enough," says Joe Dyer, Q-Link's V.P. of Customer Relations. "If you're in the one percent that doesn't receive a satisfactory answer, you don't care about the rest."

Joe, who joined Quantum after building the Customer Relations department at American Express, has a special motto: "More than the client expects ... Greater than the situation warrants."

"Giving accurate information in response to a customer problem 99 percent of the time is not good enough," he says, "If you're in the one percent that doesn't receive a satisfactory answer, you don't care about the rest."

Find out more about our committed Customer Relations staff at a special Forum with Joe Dyer on Sunday, October 16, at 10 p.m. in the People Connection Auditorium.

Real People, Real Help

A unique feature of Customer Relations support is its online staff of QGuides. You'll find them on duty during peak hours in the Lobby of People Connection and in People Connection's special Help room.

QGuides are recruited from the Q-Link membership — you have to be at least 18 years old and have been a member for at least three months to qualify. It's a paying job!

QGuides must complete a two-week training period. Trainees spend weeks scouting Q-Link and memorizing every menu option, every step to downloading software, and the details of billing and our terms of service. A guide-in-training also receives individualized online training from an experienced QGuide. Finally, the trainee must complete what is known among the QGuides as "Hell Night." The guide-in-training meets a number of QGuides in a private room and endures two hours of questions about Q-Link.

Customer Relations and Services — Included in Your Basic Monthly Fee!

It's true that your $9.95 monthy fee includes Q-Link's Basic services such as the latest news and weather in News and Information, the Q-Link Store in The Mall, and the Academic American Encyclopedia in the Learning Center. But did you know that fee also includes the service you receive from our Customer Relations staff, all the offerings in the online Customer Service Center, and your monthly Q-Link Update? On Q-Link, you don't pay extra for answers to your service questions or concerns.

Finding Help — Online and Off

If you're having problems connecting to Q-Link, or if you need an immediate answer, call the Customer Relations Department at 800-392-8200, from 9 a.m. to 3 a.m. Eastern time, and you'll have the attention of one of our crack representatives.

If you need fast, accurate answers to your questions, check online in the free Customer Service Center. You'll find information about your Q-Link Bill and Q-Pons, the Terms of Service, the Schedule of Events, and a complete Members' Online Guide that offers detailed descriptions of Q-Link's departments, game instructions and system functions.

If the Online Guide doesn't have the information you need, just post a message on the boards located in the Guide. You'll receive an answer from Customer Relations in 24 hours.

If you don't know which board to post your question on, just send E-Mail to "Jenny C," Q-Link's online correspondence coordinator. She'll respond to you with advice and instructions.

For even quicker responses, be sure to pop into People Connection's Lobby and just ask an expert QGuide.

To enjoy all that Q-Link has to offer, you need answers. That's why Q-Link Customer Relations goes out of its way to serve you.

People Connection®

by EileenC

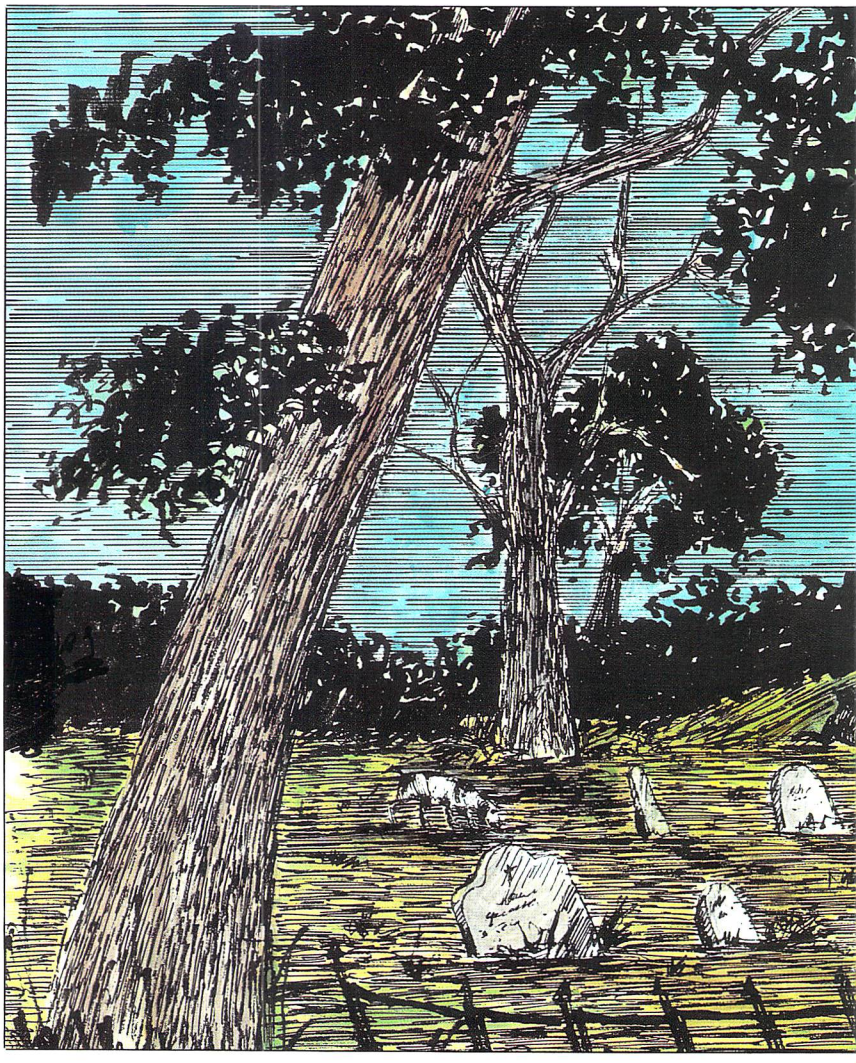
If you hear cackling laughter echoing from the attic, and see a frightful jack-o'-lantern sitting in the window, you'll know you've arrived at People Connection's Haunted Mansion!

That's right! The doors of the Haunted Mansion will creak open in Just For Fun's QSociety on Wednesday, October 5, and stay open all month long. Venture in, if you dare, for a howling good time!

While visiting the Mansion, be sure to sneak downstairs and try the door to The Cellar. There's a hidden treasure there of ten free Plus hours. If you can decipher the secret code that unlocks The Cellar's door, you'll win the treasure!

Get to know Q-Link's very own Halloween ghost, "Cool Ghoul." Don't be frightened, though. "Cool Ghoul" is a friendly ghost – the friendliest ghost we know! In fact, he'll award prizes and free Plus hours as he haunts People Connection rooms throughout October.

Be sure to take a seat in the Auditorium when "Cool Ghoul" makes his premiere stage appearance, on Saturday, October 29, at 10:30 p.m. He'll award more prizes and answer questions about his life in the Haunted Mansion.



Creative Q-Linkers won't want to miss out on the Mansion's Halloween Graphics Contest! To enter, just submit your best graphic rendering of the grand ol' house on the Contest message board. You could win more free Plus hours on Q-Link!

In addition to the Mansion's Contests and fun, we're throwing lots of get-togethers in honor of Halloween.

First, don your scariest (or funniest) costume by creating a special screen name for the Masquerade Ball, on Saturday, October 22, at 10 p.m. in special People Connection rooms. The fun continues at Masquerade-mania, 12:30 a.m. in more People Connection rooms.

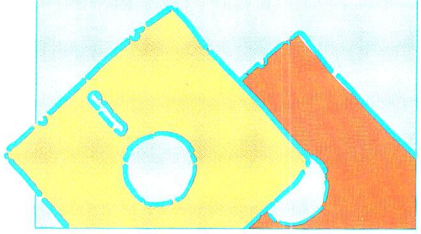
Then, hop over to the Haunted Casino room, hosted by RabbitJack and friends, in People Connection, on Friday, October 28, at 10 p.m.

But that's not all! You and your friends will have a ghastly great time at our Halloween Haunted Mansion Bash, on Sunday, October 30, at 10 p.m. in People Connection. All of your Mansion pals will be there! If you haven't turned into a pumpkin, stick around for our Late Night Haunted Mansion Bash at 12:30 a.m., also in People Connection rooms. You'll find the room names of all our Halloween Parties posted in the Haunted Mansion.

We guarantee you'll have a TERROR-ific month on Q-Link during October!

(Just For Fun/QSociety/PC Haunted Mansion)



Calling all gamers!

Use your skill in playing popular game programs to win a library of gaming programs and the title of "Expert Q-Link Gamer" in the "Great Gamer Trivia-Off" in the Commodore Software Showcase.

This month, take the Great Gamer Trivia-Off Quiz. It contains 10 questions about strategies and hints for popular software packages such as Electronic Arts's "Bard's Tale" and "Skate or Die," and EPYX's "California Games" and "Impossible Mission."

You might be asked how to bypass an assassin, avoid falling in a well, make good use of a lantern or name a character. After you answer the 10 regular questions, you can earn bonus points by tackling the two "stumpers" at the end.

New quizzes will go up on October 3, 10 and 17. Answer them each week using the same screen name each time. The five Q-Linkers with the best scores will compete in the Great Gamer Trivia-Off Final, on Thursday, October 27, at 8 p.m., in People Connection's Auditorium!

Grand Title, Other Prizes to Be Awarded

The finalists will be invited up on stage to answer the toughest gaming trivia questions that the publishers themselves can dream up. The players will match wits in lightning-fast elimination rounds. The finalist with the lowest score at the end of each round will be sent back to the Auditorium audience.

Finally, the last two players will face-off in the Grand Spin-Off Round. The victor will win the publishers' latest games newly released for the Christmas season, a quality plaque, and the first-ever awarded title of "Expert Q-Link Gamer!" You could become a Q-Link star!

The other five finalists win software prizes and merchandise from the Q-Link store. And you can win software prizes even if you're not a finalist — ask questions from the audience, and you'll be a winner if you can stump the panel.

(CSS/Software Support Center)

Accolade Joins the Software Support Center

Now you can get gaming support and product information directly from Accolade, developers of the "4th and Inches Team Construction Set" football simulation game, "Test Drive" and "Hardball."

In "4th and Inches," you can pit different fantasy football teams against each other.

Use the online libraries in the Accolade area to download teams, courses and games that other Q-Link members created with the "4th and Inches" construction sets. Find out what's coming soon from Accolade in the News and Information area, or browse the online catalog for reviews and product information.

The Product Support message boards in Accolade's area of the the Support Center offer game hints and answers from Accolade representatives and fellow Accolade game-players. Just look for the Accolade publisher area in the Software Support Center of the Commodore Software Showcase.

Join The Election '88 Great Debate October 28, Sponsored By USA Today

The Presidential campaign is down to the wire, but you can still join the heated debate at Q-Link's Election '88 Great Debate, sponsored by USA Today ®! The Great Debate begins on the special Great Debate message boards in the Election '88 area of News & Information's Express Yourself.

Post your political persuasions, perspectives and pet peeves — contribute your two-cents worth to the political dialogue on the Great Debate message boards. Or nominate your fellow Q-Linkers for a spot on the 3-member liberal and conservative teams that will face off in the Great Debate, on Wednesday, October 26, at 10 p.m. in the People Connection Auditorium.

Q-Link will announce the conservative and liberal teams and USA Today will announce the topic for the Election '88 Great Debate on Wednesday, October 19, at 9 p.m. in the People Connection Auditorium. Both teams will be given time to present their positions on a number of election issues and rebut each other's arguments. At the end of the debate on the 26th, members of the audience will vote to determine the winners. Members of the prevailing team will each get $150; the runners-up each receive $50. Just by attending these events, you can win door prizes including Mindscape's "Balance of Power" and Strategic Simulations "President Elect."

Discuss The Electoral Process In The Learning Center

Meet USA Today's Political Editor October 12

Share your perspective on the election issues with USA Today Political Editor David Colton, on Wednesday, October 12, at 10 p.m., in the People Connection Auditorium. Election position papers from USA Today editors will tell you where Bush and Dukakis stand on the issues! You can find them in News & Information's Express Yourself area.

The Right Choice This Fall Is News & Information Election Coverage

Do you know everything you should to make your choice on November 8?

Catch up by checking out the election and current events coverage in News & Information! Why wait for the newspaper or evening news when you can get it online from USA Today and Newsgrid?

For daily election news highlights and candidate coverage, turn to the Election '88 area of News & Weather. Be a newsmaker yourself by participating in online straw polls! Find out how your opinions compare to those of other Q-Link members. Cast your vote for President in a poll on November 7. Compare Q-Link's candidate choice to the actual election turnout on November 8.

If something in the election coverage or polling gets your goat, don't get mad — Express Yourself! Access to the Election '88 Debate Board is available in both the Election '88 area of News & Weather and as a menu option in the Express Yourself area.

Take a closer look at the electoral process at Political Talk, the Learning Center's informal, twice-weekly discussion of political topics and current events, 9:30 p.m. on Mondays and 8 p.m. on Thurdays, in the Tutoring Center in the Learning Center. Sessions are led by QTutor mcs.

RabbitJack's Casino®

Casino Corner, October 1988

If you enjoyed following the Summer Olympics last month, join us as an online Olympian in the Casino throughout the last half of October. Compete with a team of up to 10 players in the Casino Olympics for prizes of up to 100 Plus hours per team!

To participate in the Casino Olympics, just join a team and play in any of the Casino tournaments or weekly QRJ Events. You can find the schedule of these games in the Update or in the Casino Club under "How to Play in Rabbit-Jack's."

The top 10 winners of each of the Casino's regularly scheduled tournaments from October 17 to October 31 will win points for their respective teams. All tournaments – Blackjack, Poker, Slots, Bingo or All-Games — are good for points! At the end of the month, we'll award the first place team 100 Plus hours to be divided among you! Each player on the second place team wins seven plus hours, and each player on the third place team wins four hours!

Sign up to be a captain before October 4! Send E-Mail asking to be a Olympic team captain to RJOlympic. We'll post the list of team captains at 9 p.m. Eastern time on October 6th. If you're not one of those selected, send mail to a captain in order to join his/her team.

We'll keep track of points throughout the month, and keep you posted on how everyone is doing. Look in the Casino Club, in Just For Fun, for updates on the scores.

Look for complete rules in the Casino Club.

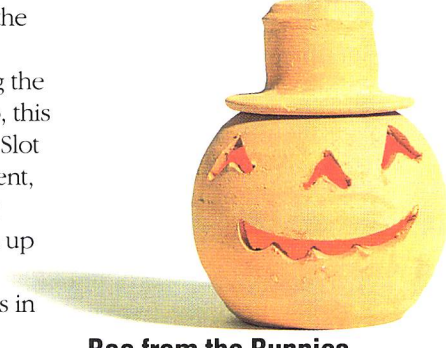
As we continue highlighting the individual games in the Casino, this month's special games are the Slot Machines. You'll find excitement, prizes and surprises in the Slot rows, as the Casino staff livens up the place with madness and specials, and RabbitJack throws in his own surprises!

Check your Update calendar! When it reads "Bunny Madness," it's time to put on your thinking caps, because Bunny Madness means Trivia time!

Join QRJ Kathy and QRJ Bruno in the Slots at 11 p.m. every Tuesday night and match wits with friends and foes. Prizes of up to 1000 Q-Chips will be awarded. You can also win five times the Jackpot by hitting it during Bunny Madness, so keep rolling your coins while you search for those answers!

As with all games, you can win Plus time and prizes in Slots tournaments at 9 p.m. every Tuesday night. Win more Q-Chips than anyone else over a two-hour time period, and you'll walk off with three Plus hours as a prize (except, of course, during the Casino Olympics)!

Throughout the month, keep your eyes peeled in the Slot rows for our renegade bunny! If you see one of the rabbits hop off the screen and start scurrying across the machine, send E-Mail to Rabbit-Jack! You'll win a deck of Casino Cards and a chance at a bank that works like a slot machine!



Boo from the Bunnies

Casino players can get a treat at our special Casino Halloween party.... Look for all the details of this month's celebration in "Rabbit-Jack Speaks" in the Casino Club!

Last, but certainly not least, don't forget our Casino Night, on Friday, October 7, at 10 p.m. in the People Connection Auditorium. Meet RabbitJack, get answers to your Casino questions, and then head off to the Casino for a night full of games and Q-Chips!

Don't miss out on October's fun in the Casino — order your disk from the Casino Club or The Mall today!

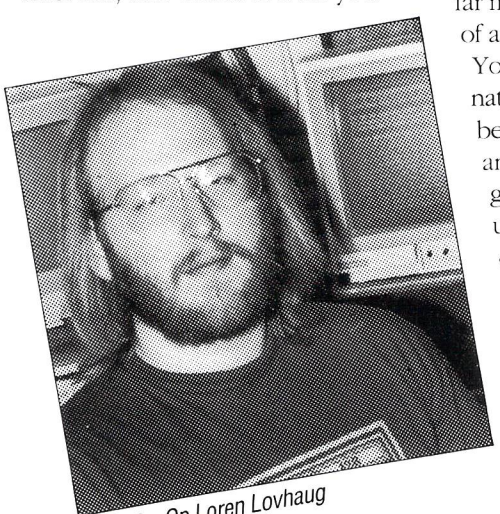
Loren Lovhaug is the publisher of Twin Cities/128, a journal dedicated to software and hardware for the Commodore 128 computer. He is also the System Operator (SysOp) for the Twin Cities/128 area in Commodore Information Network's Hardware Support Group, profiled on page 36.

Below, he shares with you what he gets from his role as a Q-Link SysOp — and tells C128 owners what CIN offers them.

Allow me to be straightforward — I'm going to try to "sell" you on the idea of using Q-Link to get computer software and information. My appeal is basic: What's in it for me, and what's in it for you?



C128 SysOp Loren Lovhaug

What's In It For Me?

As a journalist who is attempting to make a living writing about Commodore computers, there are many reasons why Q-Link makes sense for me. You see, the fundamental writer's credo is know your audience. As a SysOp, Q-Link gives me a unique opportunity to do just that.

Logging on to Q-Link each day and plugging into the thoughts of the people who read my stuff is invaluable. In fact, in my opinion, far more valuable than the results of any survey.

You see, Q-Link, by its very nature, creates a dialogue between me and my audience, and through such dialogues, I gain a much more detailed understanding of what computer-related problems, concerns and desires are all about.

What's In It For You?

Q-Link gives you the ability to talk to me and to people like me, who produce Commodore computer articles, hardware and software. Q-Link is the perfect vehicle for getting personal attention from the experts in Commodore Computerdom. You really have connections to help you solve your hardware and software dilemmas.

Along the same vein, Q-Link allows you to become a consumer crusader, protecting your rights as a Commodore computer user. By reading the comments and evaluations of our work by your fellow Q-Linkers, we can quickly identify whether or not our work is "up to snuff."

So, take advantage of the assistance and guidance that we as SysOps and Q-Link staff members offer you! What's in it for me? A sharpening of my professional skills and a satisfaction for the work that I do. And what's in it for you? Value for your money! Enjoy!

Get Expert Dedicated 128 Support in the Twin Cities/128 Hardware Group

With all of the attention paid to the Commodore C64 , some of our members might be tempted to shout, "Hey I've got a 128! What about my needs?"

Shout no more! Get the C128 support you want and need in Q-Link's Twin Cities/128 Support Group in the Commodore Information Network's Hardware Support Groups area! This group is devoted exclusively to the needs of you, the C128 owner!

Loren Lovhaug, the group's System Operator (SysOp), brings an unparalleled blend of information and software to his support group. Loren is the publisher of Twin Cities/128, one of the nation's only journals dedicated to C128 information and product reviews. Loren is also a regular contributor to magazines like RUN and Info.

Download high-quality software from Lovhaug's Special Software Libraries in the Twin Cities/128 Group area. Get reviews, news and programming information written by Lovhaug and his Twin Cities staff in the group's Slick Tips area.

Are you having problems with your peripherals? Need to know what printer to buy? Just post your questions on the Twin Cities/128 message boards, and get accurate advice in a hurry from Lovhaug or your fellow C128 fans.

Join other C128 owners four nights a week in the Twin Cities/128 Help Key Conference Room for discussions about C128 hardware and software. The group meets at 9 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

Interested in subscribing to Twin Cities/128? Subscription information is online in the About Twin Cities/128 area.

Win Big in Trivia Contest

Get to know Twin Cities/128 this month in the Twin Cities/128 Trivia Contest! Each week, a contest quiz of C128 trivia questions will be posted in a special area of Twin Cities/128.

The questions will get progressively harder as the weeks roll by. At the end of the month, the Q-Linker with the highest score wins a 1750 RAM Expansion Module!

Even if you can't play each week, you still have a chance to win! For each week that you complete the quiz, your name will be included in a random drawing held at the end of the month. If your name is picked, you win a 1200 baud 1670 modem! Enter the trivia contest each week and increase the odds in your favor!

For all the details on the Twin Cities/128 Trivia Contest, select the Contest area on the main menu of the Twin Cities/128 Support Group, located in CIN's Hardware Support Groups area. Check out the monthly conference schedule and find out how to join the group by checking in the group's About Twin Cities/128 area.

Computing Support Groups Vs. Hardware Support Groups — What's the Difference?

What's the difference between Computing Support Groups and Hardware Support Groups, you ask? The difference is one of approach!

The Computing Support Groups are dedicated to your computing interests—music, games, art and graphics, and more. They deal with the software and applications side of computing.

If you are looking for advice on games or instructions for running a particular program, head for the Computing Support Group and you'll find the area that interests you!

The Hardware Support Groups are dedicated to your machine. They approach computing questions based on the type of machine you own. Their prime purpose is to help you with the hardware you own and to give advice on hardware-related questions.

In addition to Twin Cites/128 (see opposite page), there are three other Hardware Support Groups. The C64 Group answers your questions concerning Commodore's most popular machine, and the Amiga Alliance Group supports the growing army of Commodore's Amiga owners.

The PC-10/MS-DOS® Group supports owners and users of Commodore's MS-DOS (IBM® compatible) machine and can help you out with your PC-10 problems both at home and at the office. Check out the Hardware Support Group for the machine you own, and find out how to use your computer to its maximum potential!

(CIN/Hardware Support Groups)

Join other C128 owners four nights a week in the Twin Cities/128 Help Key Conference Room for discussions about C128 hardware and software. The group meets at 9 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

Find Out What's New at the World of Commodore Show!

We'll See You There, November 3-6!

If you can't make it to the World of Commodore show, November 3-6 at Philadelphia's Civic Center, we've got the solution for you!

The Commodore Information Network brings the World of Commodore to you through a special section in its News & Reference area.

Get details on new and improved hardware peripherals and software exhibited at the show by a variety of Commodore developers.

CIN will broadcast live from the show, on Saturday, November 5, at 10 p.m., in the People Connection Auditorium. CIN's Producer Paul Gernhardt will bring onstage a star lineup of exhibitors and Commodore gurus. Get your questions ready!

If you plan to attend the show, be sure to stop by the Q-Link exhibit. CIN's special World of Commodore area will give you information about the exhibitors, booth locations, panel discussions and more, weeks before the show. Find out what's planned at the first-ever stateside edition of the fair.

Quantum's own booth will feature live demonstrations of Q-Link, prize giveaways and more. We hope to see you there, or online!

Software Hot Spot
The PC Haunted Mansion

(Just For Fun/QSociety/PC Haunted Mansion)

Not a software program, but a special online area where you'll find great Halloween music this month! You won't want to miss it.

Located on the main menu of Just For Fun's QSociety, the PC Haunted Mansion is a spooky and fun place to get in the Halloween Spirit (for more specifics, check out People Connection on p. 8). And within its eerie confines is the Spooky Tunes library, where you'll find favorite Halloween music programs waiting for you!

Among the bone-chilling favorites available in this special area during October, you'll find Q-Link Halloween album classics, Halloween1.sda, Halloween2.sda, and Halloween3.sda, uploaded by Music Room SysOp BJH. They're full-length albums filled with familiar fearsome themes. Or download a version of "Tubular Bells," the creepy classic from the film "The Exorcist."

The downloading instructions and a few music utilities needed to play the music will be in this

PERIPHERALS

Q. What's a RAM Expansion Unit?

A. RAM Expansion Units (REUs) help you work with larger amounts of data, and let you work faster. They are a wise investment for the busy computerist.

Random Access Memory, or RAM as it's commonly called, is the internal computer memory used to temporarily store programs and data . The amount of available RAM dictates how much information the central processing unit can work with at one time. If there isn't enough room to store all the information in RAM, the computer program must retrieve data from a disk, which is a much slower process.

A RAM Expansion Unit (REU) expands the amount of room available for information storage in a computer. Commodore produces three REUs; the 1764 REU for the C64, which adds 256K of RAM; and the 1700 and 1750 REUs for the C128, which add 128K and 512K, respectively. 128K and 256K of RAM translate into 128,000 and 256,000 characters of stored data.

How to Use an REU

One of the most common methods of using a REU is by utilizing software programs designed to work with it. A word processor, which might normally work with a maximum of 10 pages of text, might work with 50 pages of text at a time when designed to work with an REU.

There are many good commercial and public domain programs designed to work with REUs. For software recommendations, check the message boards in CIN's Hardware Support Groups.

Another popular use for a REU is as a RAM disk. A RAM disk is used just like a disk drive but is much faster. To use the REU as a disk drive, you'll need special software that you can download from the Software From Commodore library, located in the Commodore Information Network's Commodore's Headquarters area.

REUs and GEOS

GEOS, a popular graphics environment, is one commercial software package that can support Commodore REUs. GEOS uses the added RAM as additional buffer space or as a RAM disk. As GEOS retrieves data, you'll notice an overall increase in speed. You can get information on using GEOS with an REU in the Commodore Software Showcase's GEOS Arena.

SysOp's Picks

This month, nine support group SysOps were asked to recommend a favorite program in their group (the PC10/MS-DOS SysOp Pick comes with a companion file). These files can be found in the individual Software Libraries of the Commodore Information Network Computing and Hardware Support Groups.

If you remember when Pepsi was a nickel and the Andrews Sisters sang "Rum and Coca-Cola," then you'll want to join the gang in the Over 50 room in People Connection. Look for it nightly!

Save Plus Time $$

You may have noticed that the Plus sign (+) at the top left of your screen stays on when you exit a Plus area and return to a menu. That's because Q-Link doesn't know you've left a Plus area until you select and enter a non-Plus service area.

Stop the timer when you exit a Plus service by immediately selecting and entering a Basic service area from the menu. That will stop the clock. Then you can leave the Basic area and return to the menu to browse, with no Plus time ticking away!

Plus Time Prizes

Did you know that more than 6,000 Plus hours are awarded as prizes each month on Q-Link? Nightly Trivia contests, Auditorium events, CIN conferences and dozens of other contests are all opportunities for you to win! Find out where and when by checking for details in each department's "Tonight!" area and here in the Update!

Get a Local Access Number For Your Area

Speak up! If you don't have a local access number in your area, just ask!

Local access numbers are assigned based on requests received. If your community doesn't have a local Tymnet or Telenet number, contact our Customer Relations Department at 800-392-8200 and ask for a local access petition. Just fill it out and mail it to Tymnet or Telenet. Ask other Q-Link members in your dialing area to do the same!

Create Your Own Private Room

Did you know you can create a private room? Private rooms are perfect for a quiet talk among friends, a "by invitation only" party or a confidential conversation. These rooms are called private because the name of the room does not appear on the People Connection list of rooms, and it can only be entered by people who know the name of the room.

To create a private room in People Connection, press the F7 key for the People Connection menu and select the "Change Rooms" or "Enter Box Office" option. Then select Go To a Private Room. Type in the name of your private room. Send an online message to your friends, so they know where to find you!

Text File Reader Available on Your Program Disk

Did you know there's a software program on your Q-Link Program Disk that you can use to read text files you download? It's called SPRINT, and it's included free on all Version 3 and 4 Q-Link Program Disks.

To load SPRINT, insert the Program side of the Program disk into your drive. Type: LOAD "SPRINT",8 and press the RETURN key. Then type: RUN and press the RETURN key. You'll be able to display saved E-Mail and text files!

Q-Link Guide to Clubs and Special Interest Groups

FIND YOUR NICHE ON Q-LINK!

Q-Link is like any other community — its members share a variety of interests! Those interests cover everything from computing to family issues, from education to science-fiction, from health to fantasy role-playing! You name it! Q-Link's got it!

This guide is designed to help you find your niche on Q-Link! With this list of the dozens of clubs and special interest groups you can join on Q-Link, you are bound to find one or a couple that are just right for you!

What can you do in a Q-Link club or special interest group? Discuss the issues that affect you, chat with new-found friends that share your interest, download helpful, related software, talk with experts in your special area of interest and more!

Behind every club and special interest group on Q-Link is a host, representative or System Operator (SysOp) to assist you. When's the meeting? What's the topic for tonight's conference? What software can I download to help me pursue my interest? Your host or SysOp has all the answers!

So, use this Guide to find the club or special interest group that satisfies you. We'll see you online!
